It is advisable that equipment is serviced at least 4 weeks before a trip, holiday or use in training, to allow enough time for it to be tested by the owner and to get any minor adjustments done if required. Regulators may need time to settle and 'bed-in' and occasionally a small minority may require small adjustment or fine-tuning in the weeks after a service has been carried out. It is prudent to allow time for any potential adjustments to be done before use on a trip, holiday or in training.
